Tuesday 21st March 2017

Dear Parents/Carers,

It is World Autism Awareness week from Monday 27th March to 2nd April 2017. At Greenway, the children will be participating in assemblies, activities, discussions and PSHE lessons in classes throughout the week to raise awareness and understanding of Autism. This is in conjunction with the activities suggested by the National Autistic Society (NAS) www.autism.org.uk

As you will hopefully be aware, we work closely with pupils, parents and professionals to support pupils with Autism at Greenway.

As part of Hertfordshire schools Special Education Needs and Disabilities (SEND) local offer, schools have had, or are undergoing, training from the Autism education Trust (AET) www.autismeducationtrust.org. The AET has set up a framework of standards and competencies that all schools should strive to work to. This is in partnership with advice from the Communication and Autism Team.

Both organisations provide some extremely useful resources for schools and parents to use so please take a look at the websites.

Please contact me if you have any queries regarding World Autism Week.

Yours Sincerely

Dani Roe
Inclusion Co-ordinator
Autism Lead at Greenway
