

Hello Green Ash,

Thank you so much for your lovely emails. I miss seeing you at school so reading your news and seeing your photographs and pictures has made me feel very happy ❤️

I hear that Red Ash have been kindly painting pebbles and hiding them in Berkhamsted for people to find. Have you found any on your walks yet?

I was happy to read that some of you have been clapping on Thursday nights to say thank you to the NHS - for the wonderful job they are doing looking after people who are feeling very ill. When I am clapping outside my home I think of you clapping outside yours as we are all doing it at the same time. In fact... I think I can hear you? 😊

I have planned some more activities and learning for you. Lots of it is linked to 'The Very Hungry Caterpillar'. I know you like that story so I hope you enjoy yourself and have fun as you learn! Don't worry if there isn't time to do everything. Things are different at the moment and grown-ups can be very busy at home. Remember if you feel worried about anything it is always best to tell an adult you trust. I tell a trusted adult when I'm feeling worried and then I feel a lot better.

Have you noticed the birds singing? Don't they sound beautiful? I hope you are continuing to sing at home. I've put in a new rhyme for you to learn about a caterpillar...

Well, keep looking after your plants and helping at home – and keep washing those hands!

With love from

Mrs Tritton xxx
