

Curriculum tasks for 2 weeks

Task 1 (Science):

Open the activity labelled shadow drawing. In the activity your child will explore the shapes of shadows and how they change over the day.

There are a series of questions to explore and an explanation of what is happening.

Task 2 (Science/Art):

Linked to the above activity I would like you to create your own sundial. Follow the link at the bottom of shadow drawing or click on the link below:

Challenge yourself by including Roman Numerals as well as numbers 1-12.

Task 3 (Art/English):

You may be aware that J.K. Rowling is publishing her original story, The Ickabog, online for free! Set in an imaginary land, The Ickabog is a stand-alone fairy tale.

A new instalment of the story will be revealed daily at 3pm, Monday to Friday, throughout the course of seven weeks.

I would like you to read some of the story online at www.theickabog.com/read-the-story/

There is a competition where you will need to submit your illustrations for The Ickabog for a chance to be featured in the printed book!

Information can be accessed by following the below link:

Task 5 (Science):

Great object hunt out and about activity. You have 30 minutes to complete the challenges that are set out on the sheet. The activities are designed to be completed in a group so team up with a sibling and go hunting!!!

Task 6 (Art):

The link below will take you to the Hold still National Portrait Gallery competition.

<https://www.npg.org.uk/hold-still/>

It is spearheaded by The Duchess of Cambridge, Patron of the National Portrait Gallery, Hold Still, a portrait of our nation in 2020, is an ambitious community project to create a unique photographic portrait which captures the spirit, mood, hopes, fears and feelings of the nation as we continue to deal with the Coronavirus outbreak.

You will need to think about an experience or emotion that reflects your experience of lockdown. You can create your own portraits independently or with support, using a camera or phone.

Task 7 and 8 (Geography):

Last week, the 8th June, was World Oceans Day. It is held on this day every year. It's a day for acknowledging the role which oceans play in our lives and for inspiring action to protect them.

1) Have a look at this website to see all the exciting and creative things that you can get involved with.

<https://worldoceanday.school/>

2) Why are our oceans so important? Discuss this with your family then read through the fact sheet. There are many reasons why they matter.

3) Complete a plastic diary for the week.

4) Complete the 'What can be done?' activity sheet.

Task 9 and 10 (PSHE):

Spend some time completing the attached COVID-19 Time Capsule Workbook

In years to come it will be a fantastic piece of memorabilia and even a source of primary evidence in History!
